Daniel Llord Appears Nov. 18 For A & L

Daniel Llords, creator of 700 marionettes, will appear at the University of Puget Sound Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in a show aimed more at adults than at children.

Highlight of the presentation will be an adaptation of "Macbeth" with a musical background consisting of Berlioz' "Symphonie Fantastique."

Daniel Llords

The UPS show is part of Llords' first concert tour in the United States since his return from his second foreign tour which took him to such places as Singapore, Afghanistan, Pakistan and Iran.

Llords and his marionettes have performed on four continents, in 40 countries, and in five languages.

"Concerttheatre" is Llords' name for the form of his presentations. He employs his talents as singer, actor, musician, sculptor, engineer, playwright, designer, choreographer and director to put on his one-man shows.

Tickets for the Saturday performance (children $1, adults $1.50) are available at the Bon Marche and at the student body office at UPS.

Fraternities Contribute To Community Betterment

By Bob Blethen

Fraternities united this week in an effort to speed the completion of the Hilltop Youth Activity Center. Each fraternity sent four volunteers to work for approximately three hours on the Youth Center, located at S. 16th and K. Sixteen of the volunteers went to work on Tuesday afternoon and the remaining half went down to the center on Thursday.

This idea of fraternity participation in the Hilltop Youth Activity Center Project was devised by Larry Stenberg, Director of Admissions at UPS, after a discussion with Dennis Flanagan, Director of Housing and Relocation for the City of Tacoma. Mr. Stenberg thought that this project might be a great opportunity for the fraternities to create a better image within the community. He proposed his idea to IFC, where it was adopted.

Jim Monroe and Craig Killam spearheaded these fraternity groups and the work ranged from painting to picking up garbage on the one-half block site, which was originally owned by the Tacoma School District. Now the land is owned by the Metropolitan Park Board and being leased to the Youth Activity Center for $1 a year, on the stipulation that definite improvements be shown.

This recreational facility which will be the first of its kind on the Hilltop area is being sponsored entirely by public donations. A large building located on the site is in its final stages of completion and will be used to hold dances and indoor activities.

Eventually, on the outdoor grounds Mr. Flanagan stated, "We hope to have basketball courts, volleyball courts, and many other outdoor recreational facilities. The city also has intentions to buy the other half block in the future to give the Center an entire block for its services."

Regester States Views on: 'As I See Philosophy'

Perhaps most of the sizable crowd in Jones Hall auditorium at the University of Puget Sound are stoics. At any rate, they went to considerable ends to venture out on a stormy night to hear Dr. John D. Regester deliver the third annual Regester Lecture.

But the program made the effort worthwhile. The dean emeritus of the UPS graduate school discussed philosophy in a warm and human way that underlined what he said.

"As I See Philosophy" was his title. Dr. Regester, whose personal philosophy was greatly influenced by his friend Albert Sweitzer and by Plato and Kant, told the audience that the problems posed by philosophy are not artificial and that they must be given a place "somewhere in the realm of scholarship."

He attacked the statements of those who would disparage philosophy as "just preliminary science." He went on to say that science and philosophy, rightly conducted, do not contradict each other.

Dr. Regester's lecture was the third in the series named after him. The two previous lectures were given by Dr. John Magee and by Dr. Harold Simonson, both of the UPS faculty.

John Savory

Noted Pianist To Give Recital November 21

John Savory, the distinguished British concert pianist will play a recital Tuesday night, November 21, at 8:30 p.m. in the Jacobsen Recital Hall of the Music Building.

Savory's concert is part of the Artists and Lectures Series and is free for all students.

John Savory was born in London and became interested in the piano at a very early age. His studies were completed at the Tobias Matthay School of Music in England, and at the Vienna Conservatory. He holds degrees from the Royal Academy of Music and from Oxford University.

During World War II, he served for three years in the British Intelligence Service. He is fluent in German, French, Italian, and Spanish.

Tuesday night his concert will include Four Pieces by Brahms, a Beethoven Sonata, Piano Variations by Webern, Two Polkas by Smetana, and a Sonatine by Ravel. Because admission is free there are no reserved seats.

Dr. Peterson

Rogers Represents UPS In Chicago Nov. 24-25

The University of Puget Sound will be represented at the 43rd annual meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music by Dr. Bruce Rodgers, director of the University's School of Music.

The general sessions this year will be held at the Palmer House, Chicago, on November 24 and 25. In addition to being the official representative of the school, Dr. Rodgers is also a member of the standing committee on state certification and legislation. UPS School of Music has been a member of the NASM since 1947.

The NASM has been designated by the National Commission on Accrediting as the responsible agency for the accreditation of all music degree curricula with specialization in the fields of applied music, music theory, composition, music therapy, musicology, and music as a major in liberal arts programs. Its deliberations will play an important part in music education trends in this country during the coming years.

Some 300 member schools will be represented by the deans of the music departments in most of our universities and colleges, and by the administrative heads of conservatories.

Louis Sudler, president of the Chicago Orchestral Association, will give the welcome.

Additional distinguished speakers will include: James Nickerson, president, Mankato State College; Harold Spivacke, chief music director, Library of Congress; Russell Getz, fine arts advisor, Pennsylvania Dept. of Public Instruction; Lukas Foss, composer and conductor of Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra; Grant Beglarian, project director, Contemporary Music Project for Creativity in Music Education.

Sociologist Becomes Flyboy

Dr. Frank Peterson, head of the sociology department, was the "co-pilot" of a jet plane which took off from McChord AFB recently. The plane, a T-33 jet trainer, was flown by Major W. Dean Hunter, assistant professor of aerospace studies at UPS.

Their flight took the two profs over the Olympic Mountains, where—as Dr. Peterson described it—they "Looked for some good steelhead streams."

It was the second flight in a jet trainer for Dr. Peterson, who is an avid supporter of flying. When asked if he would like to go again, the doctor said, "You wouldn't have to ask me twice."

EDITORIAL

Since the time of Marco Polo, the world has done little to learn about the world's most populous country, China. For seven hundred years men have believed the wild tales of fantasy about China simply because of ignorance — not because they didn't want to know, but because China preferred to remain mysterious. The Great Wall was her protection, now it's the Bamboo Curtain — both effective.

Today, China has created nuclear weapons. The United States has made a special effort to produce an anti-missile system specifically for Chinese war-heads. Why?

The United States considers the Soviet government to be a stable one. We have faith in the rulers of the Soviet Union. Not so with China. Her government is unstable and the Chinese contempt for everything not Chinese is as present today as ever.

The Public Affairs Forum this year has chosen China as its topic. Before we can understand this choice over such topics such as birth control, drugs, the draft, and the other standards, we must realize what the purpose of the Forum is.

According to Tom Iverson, co-chairman of the Forum, it was decided that they would like the Forum to do two things — get a topic which is of interest to the students, and to make the topic one of a nature that will reflect on the intellectual level of the students.

It would be quite simple to choose a topic which is of a sensational nature. It would no doubt be quite easy to have a Forum dealing with the different aspects of Birth Control, but would a topic of this nature be a credit to the academic community of UPS?

Iverson went on to say, "We are not looking for sensationalism. We want to have a Forum which will be of interest to the students, and which will also present to the students a discussion which can be of use to both students and the community."

The chairmen have done a great deal of work and have gone over all the topics with their advisors . . . It would be much better to have five people attend the Forum and gain some lasting value from attending, than to fill the Fieldhouse and have them gain nothing academically.

There are many good reasons for choosing Red China as a topic. Population-wise, China is the largest nation in the world. At the present time, the focal point of United States foreign policy, is Southeast Asia. China is directly involved in the Vietnam conflict. The two powers fighting the war, rather directly or indirectly, are the United States and China. Never have we known so little about a foe. Never has it been so important that we know as much as possible. Although they are probably the third strongest power in the World, there is a definite lack of communication between the United States and China, or anybody and China.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Harold Favors 'Glorified Dorms'

Dear Editor:

Several statements in your Nov. 10 editorial about fraternities need amplification. Perhaps I can help. Let me try.

(1) Each fraternity member "should have the right to say, 'I don't get along with this person at all. I don't feel he will contribute anything to the House and I don't want him as a brother.'" The first part of this statement means that I, an adolescent, have rights. And as everyone knows, adolescence is nothing if not a time for asserting rights and privileges. Of course, the second part of the statement means that I don't wish to associate with anyone who don't project the Image of the House. The Image takes precedence over the person. Better yet, only those persons whose identity is born from the Image will be brothers of mine.

(2) The reasoning here "is simply that it is sometimes easier to get along without some one (sic), than it is to get along with them (cis). What I mean is that I want to get along as easily as possible. Simply that. I don't want complexities that may painfully unsettle me. What this boils down to is that I'm really afraid of anyone different, for what's more complex than one's having to live with someone different from me? I guess I'm saying that simple security is awfully important to me.

(3) "A fraternity is a brotherhood . . ." Now this statement is important so let me explain. I know we "blackball" fellows who wish to join our group. I know we first extend the open hand, then withdraw it when we see something in the outsider we don't like. But the point is that we must live as fraternity men under our national charter, not as brothers under God. Anyway, it's important to remember that by being good fraternity men we are, in fact, good brothers. We call this the miracle of transformation. This miracle happens when we take oaths and learn secret rituals which, I'm glad to say, have nothing to do with that other ritual — I mean the one of bread and wine.

Harold P. Simonson

Indee Speaks . . .

Dear Sirs:

This letter is in reference to the Nov. 10 editorial on blackballing which stated in part:

"Each member of a fraternity should have the right to say 'I don't get along with this person at all. I don't feel he will contribute anything to the House and I don't want him as a brother'. The reasoning behind this is simply it is sometimes easier to get along without someone than it is to get along with them. A fraternity is a brotherhood, and dissention among just a very few can ruin the close relationship required in order to work well together. Does this campus want a fraternity system, or simply a lot of clubs living in 'glorified dorms'?"

There are six fraternities on this campus who have denied access to their brotherhood to potential candidates who are Negroes. Only one of them, Sigma Chi, has a formal statement preventing such a drastic thing. The other five, in fact, have waivers which, they claim, gives them the right to pledge anyone they desire. I assume they meant this as a group. It has become clear, however, that prejudice, ignorance, and fear have prevented this from becoming fact.

The right of one or a few members of a house to blackball a person due to the amount of pigment in his skin, which to them

Come now, let's all gather 'round the festive martini pitcher and listen to another chapter from that beloved classic, "Very Grim Fairy Tales for Grown-ups of All Ages."

Once upon a time there was a very popular Prince who wanted to be elected President. And while he was an expert in all sorts of magic in his fairyland kingdom, he didn't really know very much about fairies.

One day, an aide came dashing into his throne room with a ghastly expression on his face. "Sire, Sire, terrible news!" he cried. "There is a vile report being viciously circulated that there are fairies in your retinue."

"Oh," said the Prince without much interest, "good fairies or bad fairies?"

"In politics," said the aide firmly, "all fairies are bad fairies."

"Well," said the Prince with a sigh, "and what are they supposed to have done?"

"Why, they are accused of what fairies are always accused of," said the aide, glancing nervously this way and that and lowering his voice, "practicing secret fairy rites in a secret fairy ring."

"On company time?" said the Prince with a frown. "I won't have it."

"Oh, no, Sire. On their own time. In private. Among consenting fairies. They're a secretive lot that way."

"So what else," said the Prince with a yawn, "is new?"

"But, Sire," cried the aide aghast, "this is the most awful thing that ever happened. You must immediately sack every one you catch."

"Now just a minute," said the Prince irritably, "if these fairies are doing their jobs and not bothering anybody else, why should I fire them?"

"Because people hate fairies for being different," said the aide. "And they dearly love to see them suffer. So you must fire them to make a public example out of them. But, of course, you must never admit you did."

"How's that again?" said the Prince.

"Well, if you admit you've fired one, then you've admitted you hired one. But, don't worry, you can flatly deny the whole thing and we aides will back you to the hilt."

"Oh, nonsense," said the Prince testily. And when a fairy in his retinue was caught, the Prince accepted his resignation, said publicly he was very sorry for the poor fairy and hoped that he would soon get well and be like everybody else. The country was stunned.

"Oh, Sire," groaned the aide. "Now you'll never be elected President. You should have denied the whole thing."

"Hmmmph," said the Prince. "The people will forgive me for unknowingly hiring a fairy. But they would never forgive me for telling lies."

And he was absolutely right. The people quickly forgot all about the incident and they elected him President that very same year in a landslide. So the Prince whose name was Lyndon B. Johnson, lived happily ever after.

Well, he lived happily ever after until he forgot what he'd said about telling lies.

Moral: The lessons of some fairy tales never seem to catch on.

From the Desk of Clay Loges

The Tacoma monsoon season has once again returned to plague the sun-loving students of the University of Puget Sound. Fun and frolic time is gone, and the books look big. However let us not forget what comes with the rain—MUD!!!!

Mud causes that pariah of Tudor-Gothic beauty, the Mudflats, to be hated by every car-driving, sane man that is in need of a place to park his car. The MUDFLATS, located at 14th & Lawrence are the ultimate of inconvenience during the "reign of rain." Approximately four weeks ago, Dr. Thompson said that this parking lot and the grass field opposite the Girls' Quad were to be prepared for student use within the next few months. Although it has only been four weeks, nothing has happened to realize this promise, but I am sure that Dr. Thompson is sincere in his statement and that black-top will soon replace mud and grass.

I might add that it is a good thing that the student-administration relationship has improved. Six years ago the Central Board minutes of November 30, 1961 read, "Doctor Thompson says that the parking lot south of the Student Center will probably be paved within a couple of months. Mr. Shotwell will do this for us at a time when his equipment is on the campus." Nothing happened then, but things are better now?

The Artist and Lectures Program describes the purpose of Public Affairs in the following manner: "To create a greater understanding of current complex social, economic and political unctions through an in-depth study by noted authorities in the specific fields and presented in an unbiased manner to provoke thought among the students."

If this is true, why does the committee keep choosing such stimulating topics as Urban Development and China? Surely there are topics more relevant to the individual student.

The three-day program is sponsored with student money at a cost of $1.50 to each of us. But only 100 (approximately) students felt the program was worth attending for free (not considering the $1.50 surcharge). Surely our in-depth study should deal with societal problems related to the generation of the Sixties and the problems should be the type with which each individual will be faced in later life.

Let's deal with the problems our elders have failed to solve or have solved, and the college student has been pressured to accept without adequate justification or satisfactory research.

I suggest topics such as:

1. The Draft—Right or Wrong?
2. History, Sociology and Legality of Drug Use.
3. The movement and the Hippies.
4. The Voluntary Army—Yes or No?
5. Black Power—Threat or Aid to Civil Rights Movement

These problems are facing us now, and we will determine their solutions in the next few decades.

The Story of the Prudent Turkey

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a prudent turkey. He opened a savings account at The Bank of California when he was just a poult.

The other turkeys laughed at him.

"What a foolish turkey!" they said. "He never has any fun!" And they went off to dance the turkey trot with some gay little pullets they had met around the barnyard.

By the time Thanksgiving came around, the other turkeys had spent all their grain. So, the farmer came and sold them to folks from the city, and they all became Thanksgiving dinners.

But the prudent gobbler had opened an account at The Bank of California and retired on his savings and lived happily ever after.

Hugh Larkin, Sports Editor

The publicity that built Danny Miles up for the Southern Oregon game was legitimate, but what a farce he turned out to be. To lead the nation in passing as a sophomore, he must have played Grunt University five times and finished the season scrimmaging their second team. He completed 25 of 28 passes against Whitworth, a national record; but since his pudgy hands dangled from such flacid arms, he must have shot-putted the ball into the flat all day. Maybe they count receptions to the opposing team.

Wearing white shoes and flashy warm-ups was all the Loggers needed to get fired up. Coach Ryan picked the right day to uniform his entire squad 60 plus). He wasn't out to break all the records, although he let Clint Scott kick field goals on any down (he broke his old record), but that was to hold the score down. The previous Logger high was 58 points. The first team could have rolled up 82 points at the rate they were going.

Due to the confusion of all the trivial components in the Sigma Chi protest, the Trail treated them a little hostile. With further of the case, we learned of its validity and therefore refer to the old cliché 'it's all fair in love and war' to reestablish our friendly relations with their house.

Beban looked like the All-American he is against Washington last Saturday, in gaining 317 yards. O. J. Simpson hobbled for 183 yards on a muddy field in their loss to Oregon State. Finally the two Heisman trophy candidates meet each other to see who will carry his team into the Rose Bowl and the national championship.

Simpson, who is Quake and Quisp combined, has never been stopped. Beban is one third Marlon Brando, one third Albert Einstein, and the last third Houdini 'the great', wants his last day of his unequitable career. The game is televised, but remember that we play tomorrow, too.

Some of the nicknames floating around the UPS locker rooms are: "Bambi", "Fuzzy", Thurston, "Bear" Ness, "Gator" Maye, "Zeke" the magnet" Zelinski (depolarized), "Jet" Crawford, "Stinky" Sienkiewich, "Flying A" Roberts, the Lark Jr. and the Lark Sr., "Golden Boy" Cason, "Chi Chi" Payne (he uses the "Silver Fox" when he terrorizes the swamps of Gig Harbor), "Hawk" Fultz and "Paythe" Price.

The University of Puget Sound crew team placed fourth in the men's division on Lake Washington last week, despite being undermanned.

Dan "Bambi" Thurston (30) leaps for the ball in a single bound Joe Roundy (93) rolls back to cut 'n slash.

Loggers Redden Raiders Faces 55-20

Southern Oregon's heralded Danny Miles is supposed to be a better quarterback than Puget Sound's Bob Botley, but you'd have a tough time convincing the 3,500 fans that saw last Saturday's UPS-SOC game of that.

The 5' 9", 160 pound Botley threw for two touchdowns, ran for two more, and thoroughly outplayed Miles in leading the Loggers to a rousing 55-20 victory over the Oregon Collegiate Conference co-champs from Ashland, Oregon.

Before retiring early in the third quarter, the stubby 180 pounder did throw for 127 yards but saw four of his passes intercepted, three of which were turned into scores that helped stake the Loggers to a 35-7 lead.

Offensive standouts, in addition to Botley, were Al and Clint Scott, who kicked two field goals to break his school record of six set last year.

On defense the Loggers picked off six passes, the most in UPS history. Steve Doolittle returned one 43 yards to chalk up the second Logger TD, and Mike Long stole a Dave Barger pass near the Logger goal line and took it a record 98 yards before running out of gas on the SOC one.

Both teams attempted a whopping total of 79 passes in what has to be the wildest game in Logger history and, surprisingly, Puget Sound's total offense figure of 364 yards only topped that of the Red Raiders by a mere

UPS Hoops High - Class Freshmen Courteers

By Stan Farber

Eight top prepsters chose UPS to further their basketball talents.

The group includes Joe Wenaweser and Ernie Smith, both of Kelso; Phil Oman and Bob Robinson, both of Ilwaco; Mark Richardson and Roger Bennett, Eugene, Oregon; Mike Chumbley, Salem, Oregon; and Charles Lowery, Palo Alto, Calif. Coach Russ Wilkerson emphasized that this is his best freshman collection from scouting all of them.

Richardson is the tallest at 6-5, Smith is 6-4 and Chumbley is 6-3. Lowery, Wenaweser and Bennett each are 6-2. Robinson is 6-1 and Oman is 6-0.

Oman was the state's top prep point producer with 664 points in 28 games for a 23.7 average. The speedy guard led state class tourney scorers for the second straight year with 173 points in four games (28.3 average). He was unanimously named to the all-state first team and set a tournament record in rebounding. He scored 554 points in 28 games last winter.

Wenaweser was an A9II-Southwest Washington league first-teamer the last two seasons. He averaged 18 points per game last year and was named the Most Valuable Player in the Southwest District All-Star baseball game and received a berth in the all-state game.

Smith averaged 16 points per game on basketball and compiled a two-year record of 11-5 as a pitcher. He was runner-up to Wenaweser in the district diamond MUP selections.

Lowery was fifth leading scorer in Northern California, an area ranging from Fresno to the Oregon border and from the Pacific Ocean to Nevada—with a 25.9 average. He was a three time all league and all-district choice and was a starter for the West Squad in the first Northern California all-star prep basketball classic.

Chumbley was an all-state first-team selection in Oregon, averaging 18 points per game and leading his district in scoring.

Bennett and Richardson were starters on the team which claimed the Oregon state championship in 1966 and gained entry into the tourney again last spring. Bennett was team captain, leading scorer and MUP on the '67 team and both were standouts on the track squad.

Wilkerson has high hopes for his freshmen. Some may crack the varsity squad and most will see action in a beefed-up frosh schedule which will include the University of Washington and SehuCoastinfreshattle University.

As for the varsity, the Loggers will travel from Alaska to Arizona, meeting eight new opponents, and bringing such teams as Los Angeles State and Hawaii here. A road trip features a game at Pepperdine.

Mike Long (21) leaped for and brought down this Red Raider.

Wednesday, Nov. 29

Any degree is acceptable

As the Company's direct representative you would travel from city to city planning and supervising the distribution of free samples of our products.

You would hire your own crews, be responsible for your own payroll, product inventory, and vehicles, and would behave much as you would if you were running your own business, making decisions and solving problems on the spot.

After about a year and a half of travel, you would be placed in a permanent position in one of our Marketing Departments and would thereafter be increasingly involved in promotion and merchandising projects carried on by P&G.

When you sign for your interview at the Placement Office, see our 4-page brochure.

I'll look forward to seeing you!

UPS-Home of the Wildcats

Central Crosses Mountains Invade 'Logger Country'??

Tomorrow afternoon the University of Puget Sound will try to bring Bob Ryan his first coaching victory over gritty Central Washington when they take on the Wildcats in the season finale for both teams. Kickoff is slated for 1:30 at Baker Stadium.

Of the four games the teams have played the past two years, Central owns three wins (the largest margin of victory was only nine points), and the fourth contest ended in a hard fought 7-7 tie.

This year Central has featured a balanced offensive attack led by the passing of Butch Hill and the running of halfback Dennis Esser and fullback Vince Brown.

Through their first seven games, Hill, a 6' 1" senior has completed 76 passes for 872 yards and six touchdown — four of them to end Jim Gray — and Esser and Brown have rambled for over 600 yards.

The game will also feature a duel between perhaps the two top punter return artists on the West Coast. Central's diminutive Steve Hertling has returned ten punts for 284 yards and three touchdowns while UPS' Jerome (the Jet) Crawford has taken back kicks for 481 yards and four scores.

The Loggers (now 5-4) need a win tomorrow to give Ryan his best season record-wise since taking over the coaching helm two years ago from present athletic director John Heinrick.

There's Great Football Being Played

"There's great football being played in Tacoma. The University of Puget Sound is one fine football team. They throw the ball like the pros. They's got a soccer style kicker who tries for fifty yard field goals. They've taken all the boys it seems, that Owen's figured he couldn't use, and built a spectacular show. This is Charles C. Bolland . . ."

EDITOR'S COMMENT:

He has been criticized over and over, but I've always found frankness and professionalism in his comments. He brings out legitimate gripes where others are afraid to speak. This time he, surprisingly, compares UPS to the U. of W. and has come out on top. Mostly, it is a cut on Owen's recruiting reputation. He says that we attract colorful players; we put on a good show. And what more is football to most fans, than a combatting circus.

Al "Flying A" Roberts (44) will be out to gain the 13 yards he needs for a season record against Central.

Jerome "The Jet" activates retro-rockets in an attempt to grab a Bob Botley pass.

It's All Over

Beta's Score . . . Hold Off Sig Chi's

Intramural football mace to a climatic ending last Thursday. The two undefeated teams, Beta Hheta Pi and Sigma Chi, clashed in a battle for the top. A crowd of under 1000 watched, as the Sigs tried desperately to upset the favored Betas.

On the second play of the game, the Tom Berg-Alf Johnson combination scored on an 80 yard pass play. These six points proved to be the margin of victory. The the next 53 plays, the teams fought a spirited battle. The end result was a well-deserved Beta victory.

The powerful bet offense rolled up 102 points during the season, while the iron defense yielded only two touchdowns, including six shut-outs in eight games.

Two years ago the Betas were 0-8, this year they were 8-0. This improvement can only be accounted for y hard work and a lot of desire. Congratulations to the Men of the Betea Theta Pi.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Bob Botley, a 5-9, 160 lb. sophomore from Stadium High in Tacoma, passed and ran himself into the spotlight this week. Against Southern Oregon he threw two long touchdowns to Dan Thurston and turkey danced for two more in the Loggers' destruction of the highly-sought Red Raiders.

His quick thinking on option plays kept the Loggers going on big third down plays.

Now the songs of Frodo, Bilbo, Sam Treebeard and Tom Bombadil can be sung or played by all. Donald Swann, of Flanders and Swann, has, with the assistance and encouragement of Professor Tolkien, set seven songs from The Lord of The Rings to music. Each song may be sung individually or taken together as a group to form a song cycle. The arrangements are for piano or voice and guitar symbols are given.

MORE LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

denotes inferiority, has denied the right of the rest of the group to enjoy a relationship with a Negro as a brother. In essence, the few bigots who can't face the realities of differences of color, religions, and political beliefs and differences of opinion in our society are being shielded from such sordid facts by their weakkneed "brothers".

A case in point is Sigma Epsilon here at UPS which told a Negro candidate they couldn't pledge him because they weren't strong enough. Strong enough to what? Face the rest of the campus, themselves, the alumni? Maybe they didn't have the strength to tell some of their members that times have changed. Maybe they weren't strong enough to accept the fact that their previous attitude about Negroes was a mistake. Be that as it may, they have a Negro brother at Williamette University in Salem, Oregon (a school that is Methodist oriented and draws many of its students from the same geographic area and economic status groups as does UPS) who was pledged last year after the members of SAE at Williamette decided they did have the guts to pledge a Negro. I wonder how he feels about his brothers' decision here at UPS?

Be that as it may, I question the very reasoning behind black-balling. It may well be simple to live without someone; that's the way the Nazis felt about the Jews, our illustrious ancestors about the Indians, and some "black power" advocates feel about the whites. I could go on for this has been our easy answer to every social problem. Carried to it's ultimate, however, this could lead to the destruction of this planet as we know it by nuclear holocaust. If this ever happens, at least one of the parties responsible will have acted because in their analysis it was "easier to live without them."

There is no room today to deny the differences of opinion, color, religion, in short, all the differences inherent in society.

The question has been raised, "Does this campus want a fraternity system or simply a lot of clubs living in glorified dorms?" I look out at Greek Row and I see eight government-financed buildings, owned and operated by the University of Puget Sound, which could very accurately be described as "glorified dorms." If fraternity be synonymous with brotherhood, all we have here at UPS are "clubs living in glorified dorms." To ask whether this campus wants a fraternity system is academic. The administration spent allowed dorm money building the "system" whether the campus wanted it or not.

One of the members of a social fraternity here at UPS told me that a fraternity is defined as "a place to live." That's all! The advantage to the system is that one (once he becomes a member) has a choice as to who he will allow to live with him. As an independent here I have missed out on such a unique opportunity. Denied this "advantage" I've had to live with Negroes, Jews, Democrats, "hippies," Muslims, Buddhists and men depledged from fraternities to name just a few. Somehow, through it all, I've managed to get good grades and become involved in many close relationships. Even after I graduate I'll carry with me many of the friendships I've made among people with whom I've shared common interests; stated another way, we will carry with us a feeling of brotherhood.

I've lived with many differences of opinion. I've been made to realize that everybody has some strength, something unique he can contribute, not for me personally maybe, but for the group as a whole. When are the fraternities going to realize that differences of opinion (dissent) can be a virtue for the group?

I think the question before this campus is really this: How long can the fraternities continue to shield a few of their members from reality as they hide out in their "glorified dorms" while the rest of us struggle with their greatest fear, dissension, and still manage to achieve brotherhood, the institution the fraternities say they desire most?

Sincerely,
Bob Warnaca
Class of '68

Food 'Service?'

The lack of efficiency and consequent lack of consideration for the students' time that has been shown by the food service in the past few weeks is absurd and disgusting. There is no excuse for having students stand in line for 45 minutes and then having to leave because they have a class at 1:00 p.m., or to have to be in line by 7:15 in the morning in order to finally be served in time to hurriedly gulp down breakfast before rushing off to an 8:00 o'clock class. There have been days that students, if they came to all three meals, have spent more than two hours standing in line waiting to be fed. This time could be much better spent somewhere else — studying, for instance.

Upon inquiring as to the nature of the slow service, I have been informed that it was due to the fact that student help failed to show up. If this is the case, I suggest that the kitchen help that was sitting in the dining hall eating at least sit where they cannot be seen if they are incapable of working. And individual service is nice, but it takes time for the girl at the serving end to stand and wait while she plays with the food, asking every student whether or not they want the what-ever-it-is she is putting on the plate before she bothers to fill any plates. Why can't she just fill the plates, stopping only when a student requests something special? It would be about 500% faster.

If better service is impossible, at least refund to the student the price charged for that meal any time he is forced to wait an undue amount of time. It seems to me that a wait of 10 minutes should be more than enough time for three lines to handle any rush the small student body at UPS could provide. I have seen a drive-in handle 200 unexpected people in 15 minutes. Why, then, can't the SUB handle a similar crowd in the same amount of time? They have several advantages, one being that they know to expect crowds at certain times, and another being that even if no student help arrives, the number of employees that are usually seen eating in the dining hall outnumber the average drive-in staff by more than three times.

Either speed up the service, or else allow refunds (of the same amount that is charged for that particular meal if one were to eat that did not have a meal ticket) so that a student with a class in an hour might be able to eat elsewhere in order to be back on campus in time for his class. The service that we have been getting is not worth the price we have paid for our meal tickets. Our time is not something we can afford to throw away 45 minutes at a time standing in line, waiting for what often turns out to be warmed-over left-overs anyway.

Somewhat annoyed,
Rockwell Smith

Rome Students See Pope Paul

Thirty University of Puget Sound juniors and seniors had a ringside seat recently when Pope Paul and Athenagorus, patriarch of the Orthodox Church, met in St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

The UPS group obtained reserved seats directly behind the prelates in the central nave and directly in front of the high altar. The meeting between the two spiritual leaders was held October 26.

"The entrance of the pope and the patriarch caused a wave of excitement over the people and we were caught in the thrill and excitement of the event," wrote Dr. John Phillips, leader of the UPS overseas contingent.

"Our students had been prepared beforehand to know something of the historical significance of this meeting," he wrote. "Therefore, when the announcement of the union of the two great churches came from the mouth of Athanagorus, they were able to appreciate the meaning of the event which packed St. Peter's."

ACID ANTICS

KOMO-TV will present "the most scrupulously honest and accurate" documentary yet produced to convey the facts about LSD, its use and abuse, on Monday, November 20, 7-7:30 p.m., over Channel 4.

The special color program "LSD-25" has been previewed by more than 20 health education teachers, psychologists and physicians in the Northwest who termed the program "dramatic, realistic," and also "vital viewing" for every parent, every student, junior high through college level, every teacher and all persons concerned about the "drug scene" and its impact on youth.

In "LSD-25," the Lysergic Acid molecule tells its own story. The film begins with the LSD molecule saying: "I'm a complicated thing, here in complicated times and in complicated places. But now, let me tell you what I REALLY am and what I REALLY do."

It speaks of its "unpredictability"—that the results of its use are more dependent on the psychological makeup of the user than the acid itself. The private Hell of a "bum trip" where a group of young people find looking into their own minds a terrifying experience, the destructive horror of recurring hallucinations long after the "trip" is over, the pitiful portrait of a teenage girl beginning psychiatric care after trying to "blow her mind" on acid—all these are part of the LSD molecule's story.

"LSD-25" was produced to meet the urgent needs of a school district where "dropping acid" was no longer an "academic matter" and where teachers required an honest, comprehensive, and dramatic film that critical students could trust. In addition to impressing its young viewers, the feature has been received in many parts of the country with highest enthusiasm by college and university students, teachers, physicians, law enforcement personnel, religious groups and the military.

"LSD-25" was produced by Professional Arts, Inc., for the San Mateo (California) Union High School District, in cooperation with San Mateo County Medical Society, San Francisco

Interfaith Around UPS

Turkey Talk

The University Community will have an opportunity to share in a most unusual inter-faith thanksgiving service to be held next Sunday evening, November 19, at 8:00, in the sanctuary of Mason Methodist Church.

Dr. John B. Magee, of the faculty at the University of Puget Sound, will offer the sermon. The whole of the service will be presented in an atmosphere which will emphasize the necessity of dialogue between the faiths of our nation. Thanksgiving, as a National holiday, is the one festival that can be commonly celebrated in each of the traditions of our country. Therefore, participants in the service will include Rabbi Richard Rosenthal, of Temple Beth-El, Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, president of the University, Chaplain Jeffrey L. Smith, and Pastor John H. Soltman, of the host Church. Student participants will include Jon Enz, of the Campus Faith Council, Dawn Smith, members of the Báha'i Faith, and Clay Lodges, president of the Associated Student Body.

The Tacoma Choral Society, under the direction of Mr. Tucker Kaiser, will present two anthems very appropriate to the nature of the service. Mr. Jerry Minchington, a Spokane composer, has prepared a setting of the text from Psalm 24. Leroy Ostransky, composer-in-residence at the university, has created a series of variations on the hymn tune, "Now Thank We All Our God." The organist will be Miss Leslie Doerner.

The service is for the entire University community, and is sponsored by the Campus Faith Council. The public is most welcome to participate.

Alpha Phi: November 11 was the Alpha Phi pledge dance. On Friday, Nov. 10, there was a coffee hour for the Alpha Phi Dream Man candidates. Candidates include: Kemp Reiter, Ed Galen, John Thompson, John Moon, Kent Pierce, Jon Kemp, Roger Merrick, Dick Hunne, and Tod McKelvey. On December 2 at the Christmas dance the new Dream Man will be announced.

Laurel Call announced her engagement to Rich Nevitt, a Theta Chi at UPS last year.

Happy Birthday to Suzanne Sheridan (November 9) and Mike Brady, her 21st (November 26).

Chi Omega: The Chi Omega Beta Theta Pi pledge dance "San Francisco Night" was November 10. Hippies, opera singers, protestors, trolley cars, and other representatives of San Francisco life all made the scene—including two Rice-A-Roni "boxes."

Liz Waters announced her engagement to Louis Goldman, a Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Washington, and Corky Crawford announced her engagement to Tom Dolan of Springfield, Massachusetts.

The sneak breakfast held by the pledge class for the actives was a sleepy success (?) with blue bananas and yogurt with chocolate chips featured on the menu.

Delta Delta Delta: Sue Crary announced her engagement to Bob Blethen on Monday night. He is an SAE.

Pi Beta Phi: The Phi-Sigma Nu pledge dance "Museum of Madness" was held at Brown's Point on November 10. Couples came representing famous people in history.

November 11 was the Father-Daughter Banquet. On the 27th the Pi Phis are eating dinner with the Betas.

Janet Shull announced her engagement to Tim Carte, a Sigma Chi.

Kappa Kappa Gamma: The Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge dance was held on Tanglewood Island with Phi Delta Theta fraternity. The theme was "All Washed Up."

The Kappas are having an open coffee hour November 17.

OPI Results Interpreted

Freshmen wishing to see and have interpreted the results of the Omnibus Personality Inventory (OPI) may meet in McIntyre-106, at 4:00 p.m. for a group interpretation. The Profile for the Class of 1967 will be presented and individual profiles will be available for student reference. A student wishing further discussion of his personal profile may arrange for a later meeting with any of the following: Mrs. Hamilton, Mary Longland, Ray Payne, Jim Mancuso, or Dr. Albertson.

It will be helpful if students will attend the group sessions according to the following schedule:

Alice Bond Appointed To Prominent Position

Miss Alice Bond, associate professor of physical education at the University of Puget Sound, has been appointed to the state advisory committee for physical education and recreation.

The appointment by Supt. of Public Instruction Louis Bruno, is for the 1967-68 school year.

Miss Bond, who holds B.S. and M.A. degrees in physical education from the University of Iowa and Columbia University, respectively, joined the UPS faculty in 1947.

Her career includes three years as a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps in personnel and special services.

Automobiles For Sale

I have a lovely (?) gold colored 1957 Chrysler that was my pride and joy but it blew up — now I have th body sitting in my back yard and most of the parts have been taken out (by a repair man in order to find out what was wrong) and they are stored in the garage! I would like to get rid of all or part of it — the parts can be sold separately to anyone who can use them and if no one wants the body I will just have to have it towed away. I want to get it stripped of anything of value before I haul it to the dump and get a little out of it if I can Call LO 4-2829 or the ASB office ext. 250. Mrs. Heatley.

... MORE 4-1-4

There has been a great deal of discussion during the weeks since school began about the possibilities of the 4-1-4 calendar program and the curriculum changes that are a part of that program. Much of the discussion has taken the form of hear-say, rumor, and in some cases unfounded criticisms—all of which demonstrate a lack of understanding about the program in general and many of its more specific facts.

A group of students known as the University Church Committee are concerned about the misunderstanding and confusion which have arisen and have scheduled a special convocation for Tuesday, November 22 at 11:00 a.m. in Jones Hall Auditorium. Hopefully, at this time all students, faculty, and administrators who have questions to ask and opinions to voice will be present to do so. Dean Robert Bock and members of the Faculty Co-ordinating Committee will present the basic program and discuss its purpose, potential, advantages and disadvantages on our campus.

It is important that people who are responsible members of the University Community attempt to participate in this major change—whether to support it fully or to criticize it responsibly.

Dr. Robert Bock, one of the co-ordinators of 4-1-4, is concerned with giving greater attention to the thinking and learning process in the academic program. He hopes that the flexibility of the 4-1-4 will make the curriculum more relevant to the student's individual needs and desires. Dean Bock sees an immense latitude of exciting things to be achieved in the field of modern education, and he feels that the 4-1-4 will provide an opportunity to incorporate many new developments into the curriculum.

Dr. Robert Albertson, members of the Co-ordinating Commission at U.P.S. and of the Danforth Team which studied and collaborated on objectives and methods of higher education in Colorado Springs, has a special interest in 4-1-4 because it has certain features that reflect his own personal interest in "Values and the Curriculum," the subject on which Dr. Albertson wrote his dissertation. For Dr. Albertson 4-1-4 also implements the results of a 2 year research with Honor Scholars at U.P.S., namely the "importance of a self-conscious philosophy of learning and a deliberate attempt on the part of students to apply such a philosophy to their own capacity to change and to grow." Dr. Albertson feels that the most important special feature of 4-1-4 is the possibility of justifying the nature of the curriculum by examining the learning program and process rather than just inheriting it.

Dr. Richard Hartley, chairman of Aims and Objectives for 4-1-4, feels that 4-1-4 will focus more on the individual than on the institution as the core of learning. Additionally, Dr. Hartley made the following comment about the popularity of 4-1-4 programs: "In discussion with Dr. John Bevan, vice president of Academic Affairs, University of the Pacific, we have learned that there are now probably more than 60 colleges using 4-1-4."

Next Tuesday is the time to voice your opinion. President Thompson will pay for your coffee. Can you beat that?

CHRISTMAS CONCERT SLATED

Beginning Monday morning (Nov. 20) at 8:30 a.m. a limited number of tickets will be available for the 16th annual concert of Christmas music by the University Madrigal Singers, University of Puget Sound, under the direction of Dr. Bruce Rodgers, founder of the group.

While tickets are complimentary for each of the five scheduled performances, tickets are required and all seats are reserved. Performances are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, December 5, 6, 8, 9, 10 at 7:15 p.m. nightly in Jacobsen Recital Hall, Music Building. Call the University, SK 9-3521, Ext. 254.

While UPS students have already picked up their tickets, all remaining tickets are released at one time to the general public in order that everyone will have an opportunity to hear these talented young singers whose popularity grows with each year. Last year over 1600 tickets were distributed by noon of the day of their release.

Dr. Rodgers, as usual, will say little about the concert other than that it will have some familiar and some unfamiliar Christmas music with several selections especially arranged for this concert. This year emphasis will be placed on the solo voices within the Madrigal Singers themselves including Rick Sprague, baritone and guitarist; Loyda Thomas, contralto; Paul Dennis, baritone; Richard McCullough, tenor; Peter Schindler, tenor; Arlene Ervin, soprano.

Get your bumblebee degree

Enroll in one of three exciting classes. Charger R/T, Coronet R/T, or Dart GTSport. Each has its own distinctive sporty style, but all three have a lot in common. Like automatic transmissions, wide-tread red line tires, special handling packages, and a long list of other standard and optional features.

Dodge Coronet R/T

To help you make the grade, the standard engines for the Scat Pack include a 340-cu.-in. V8 for the Dart GTS. And for Charger R/T and Coronet R/T, a 440 Magnum V8. Or for a more accelerated course, you can order the optional 426 Hemi.

Dodge Dart GTSport

All three members of the Scat Pack offer distinguishing marks at no extra cost. Bold bumblebee stripes wrapped around the rear. Or Rallye stripes along the side. Or if you prefer to be a little more modest, no stripes at all. It's your choice. Ready for class? With the Scat Pack, you've got it. Why not sign up at your nearby Dodge Dealer's and get your Bumblebee Degree, today?

To add some color to campus, get your Official Dodge Scat Pack Jacket in the official "Dodge Red"
